1 APRIL 2009

FLINTOFF, Kim

As a former student and staff member of Edith Cowan University I hold a conviction that the strength of the university stems from the strength of its community. I stand to ensure that the ECU community – staff, students and alumni – is well supported and focussed on developing a strong university whose reputation enhances and illuminates the work of the community.

WATSON, Moira

My 32-year involvement with ECU as a student, researcher, tutor, lecturer and Board member provides me with a broad perspective to best represent the interests of Alumni members at Council. I am currently finalising my PhD in the School of Management and am serving on ECU's B&L Faculty Board and previously on CTLC. Running my consulting company dealing with major WA companies enables me to offer a current real world perspective on Council matters. My skills in strategic-visioning, change transitioning and leader enhancement have been well-developed through my previous roles in BankWest, St Andrews, BOS International and Capital Finance and enhance my TAFE Director experience in corporate governance, strategy-making, academic, student and financial matters. I also bring a community view through my roles as Board member of Diabetes WA and Councillor for HBF. My background enables me to contribute effectively to the decision-making of Council and I seek your support.

CHILALAMA, Davis

I studied at ECU from 2001 and graduated 2004 with a bachelor of business degree (Accounting and Information Systems). During study period I was an executive member of student guild, accounting feature and supported other students' activities. I got an award as a student of the year 2003 for helping and establishing the ASA. After graduating, I got involved the ECU's Bunbury campus during my 18 months working career in the Great Southern of Western Australia. I now work in one of the government departments within Perth CBD. I'm very passionate about ECU and would like to continue promoting the good image of the university as an individual and through Alumni council.

RAJ, Navin

I feel that it is time I become involved with ECU as I feel deeply obligated to a University that has provided me with an education and experience which I have benefited a lot. Having served in the International Student Council and the Alumni (Singapore Chapter), I have extensive experience in contributing to the welfare of the student population. My objective would be to work together with the council in building a stronger, closely knitted alumni group among the universities in Australia. In addition, I believe in order to create a Sense Of Belonging, it is crucial to get Alumni members to continuously engage in the University's development and long term goals by regular feedback, ideas and proposals. This framework will require the support of all Alumni members and this momentum once created would add value to the progress of the University and its future goals and other strategic areas.

PROUD, Julie

I am a mature-aged married woman who graduated as a teacher. As Edith Cowan University provides opportunities for such a diverse range of students, I believe there is a role for someone who has a broad range of life experiences. As well as living in Perth and country Western Australia, I have also lived in Papua New Guinea, Tasmania, South Australia and New South Wales. I have worked as a teacher, a TAFE lecturer, in an administrative role in the mining industry and as part-owner of two regional newspapers. My background has given me a unique range of experiences. Since 1997 I have been the director of a small private publishing company.
