

Applying For Research Courses

Documenting Your Research Experience

Your research experience will be taken into consideration when we assess your application for a research course.

You will need to supply information about research grants you have received and/or any research you have published.

If you are waiting on confirmation of publication of journal article(s), book(s), manuscript(s), etc, you should include it on your CV and list of publications, noting that confirmation of publication is pending.

Provided you can supply verification of publication before the closing date for admissions, this can be considered as part of your application.
