

Other Watering Exemptions

Exemptions may be granted for the following:

Aged or Infirm

- Customers with special needs can be allowed an exemption to water between 9 am and 6 pm on their watering days subject to their application being endorsed by a medical practitioner.
- No exemption is available for pensioners and/or seniors solely on the basis of them being concession card holders.

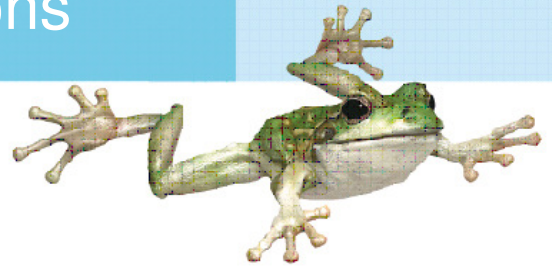

Commercial

- All commercial and industrial properties are exempt if the water is required for operational purposes.
- The exemption does NOT cover watering of lawns at these properties. Installation, repair or testing of reticulation systems - Contractors or Irrigation Australia (IA) Members.
- Contractors/IA Members can apply for an exemption certificate to test reticulation and may operate each station for a maximum period of two minutes.
- An appropriate sign must be displayed at the site stating that sprinklers are operating in accordance with this exemption.

Installation, repair or testing of reticulation systems - General Customers

- You may apply for an exemption to test reticulation outside your allowed watering days and times if repairs have been made to the pipe work. Testing is limited to a maximum of two minutes per station; you must be in attendance in the garden area where the sprinklers are operating; and inspectors will ask to view the repairs.
- You can't run your reticulation outside your allocated watering days or times to see if the system is operating or adjust sprays or sprinklers.
- The exemption can be obtained by calling the Waterwise Helpline on 13 10 39.

Other Watering Exemptions

Maintenance of bowling greens

- In the 2 day per week Watering Regime Zones, bowling clubs can apply for an exemption to water as follows;
 - For existing greens, a standard drink (10 mm) may be applied on Mondays up until 12 noon. Additionally, a standard drink may be applied, as required, on one other nominated day.
 - For greens under renovation, a standard drink may be applied, as required, on a 3rd nominated day.

Maintenance of caravan parks

- Caravan Parks can apply for an exemption to water vacated sites. A standard drink (10 mm) may be applied to the specific area.

Maintenance of hobby greenhouses with exotic plants

- Greenhouse owners with exotic plants may apply for an exemption to mist spray for up to one minute four times a day.

Maintenance of lawn tennis courts

- Customers with lawn tennis courts within the 2 day per week Watering Regime Zone can apply for an exemption to water on two alternative days, as nominated.

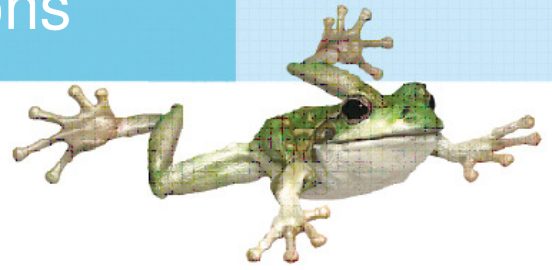

Aviaries

- People with aviaries can apply for an exemption to put their sprinklers on to cool down birds in their cages.

Maintenance of synthetic sporting surfaces

- Sporting clubs may apply for exemptions to water the synthetic surface for 10 minutes prior to games being played.

Other Watering Exemptions

Maintenance of turf wickets

- Sporting clubs may apply for an exemption to water using a standard drink (10 mm) when required.

Propagation of seedlings

- An exemption to apply half a standard drink (5 mm) may be requested.
- The standard drink may be applied at 11 am and 3 pm daily, until the seedlings are established.

Applying wetting agents and fertilisers (includes vertimowing) - Contractors Only

- Contractors may request exemptions to apply a standard drink (10 mm) once only after the initial application. The property is to then revert to the designated watering days.
- This exemption is not available to General Customers who are expected to carry out these activities and water on their allocated day and within the allowed times.

Variation to designated watering days (public institutions)

- To be eligible, the institution must demonstrate the need to change their watering days and have considered all other watering options.
- The exemption allows watering to occur on nominated alternative days, between the hours of 6 pm and 9 am, on a total number of days in the week equal to that allowed in their watering regime zone.

Variation to designated watering days (sporting bodies)

- To be eligible, the sporting body must demonstrate the need to change their watering days and have considered all other watering options.
- The exemption allows watering to occur on nominated alternative days, between the hours of 6 pm and 9 am, on a total number of days in the week equal to that allowed in their watering regime zone.
- The Exemptions are not open-ended and have a specified finish date.