The Centre of Philanthropy and Nonprofit Studies Alumni at Queensland University of Technology has generously donated an annual prize of $500 from 2005-2007 for the best paper written by a tertiary student at an Australian university on the subject of volunteering.

The winning submission will be published in the Australian Journal on Volunteering, published by Volunteering Australia.

The deadline for submitting a paper is 31 July 2007

Entries must comply with the Guidelines for Contributions listed on the Volunteering Australia website, www.volunteeringaustralia.org. Participants for this prize are encouraged to take advantage of the information on volunteering available on and through the Volunteering Australia website.

When making a submission the author’s name must not appear in the article. Attach a separate sheet with the following information:
- Name and contact details of author or authors
- Short biography (50 words) of author or authors
- Name of article
- Name of university and contact details of supervisor

Articles must be sent to The Editor, Australian Journal on Volunteering, Suite 2, Level 3, 11 Queens Road, Melbourne, 3004. One copy of each article must be submitted in both print and computer disk format.

The winning paper will be selected by a committee of experts and appear in the October issue of the Australian Journal on Volunteering.

For further information contact Annette Maher, 03 9820 4100 or annette@volunteeringaustralia.org

You can learn more about:
- Centre of Philanthropic and Nonprofit Studies, by visiting www.cpns@qld.edu.au