Dr Robina Redknap
Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officer,
WA Department of Health

2020 YEAR OF THE NURSE & MIDWIFE

DR ROBINA REDKNAP

As the Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officer, Robina provides leadership to the Nursing and Midwifery Office. Working in collaboration with the Chief Medical Officer, Chief Health Professional Officer and Chief Dental Officer, she provides policy oversight and high level advice in relation to a range of clinical and related issues to key stakeholders, including the Director General and Minister for Health.

Robina has a strong history of achievement in the development and delivery of strategic and operational initiatives, particularly in the nursing and mental health sectors.

Initially trained as an Enrolled Nurse, Robina completed her Registered Nurse training in 1986. She has extensive experience in clinical, managerial, education and executive leadership positions. She is also active in research to improve outcomes for the people we care for and the clinicians who serve them.

Robina is committed to working in collaboration and partnerships with others to break down silos and successfully navigate the complexities of delivering high quality and sustainable person-centred care in a diverse and constantly evolving healthcare system.

In addition to her registered nursing qualification, Robina holds a Cert IV in Assessment and Workplace Training, a Graduate Certificate in Leadership and Management and is a Doctor of Health Science (Clinical Leadership and Management). Awarded an Adjunct Associate Professor with Edith Cowan University, for her contribution to Nursing and Midwifery education, research and clinical practice development. Robina is also an inductee of the Honor Society of Nursing, Sigma Theta Tau International.
