This is NOT an Emergency Service

Do not refer women with:

Reduced fetal movements, vaginal bleeding, severe abdominal pain, suspected preterm labour, hypertensive emergencies, maternal collapse, or needing urgent obstetric/neonatal/mental health review.

Direct urgent concerns to:

- Bunbury Hospital ED
- Maternity Unit Coordinator 9722 1275
- Emergency 000

Who can be referred

- ✓ Pregnant from a positive home pregnancy test, or up to 6 weeks postpartum, residing in the Bunbury region
- ✓ Consents to care involving a supervised student midwife, and would benefit from extra support or continuity
- ✓ Priority groups: first-time mothers, young parents, Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander families, CALD families, and women experiencing isolation

How to Refer

- ✓ Health Professional Referral accepted from GP's, obstetricians, midwives, child health nurses, Aboriginal health workers, lactation consultants, allied health, and community agencies.
- ✓ Self-referral (from positive test)
